

The White House Easter celebration is the most fun festival in the nation!

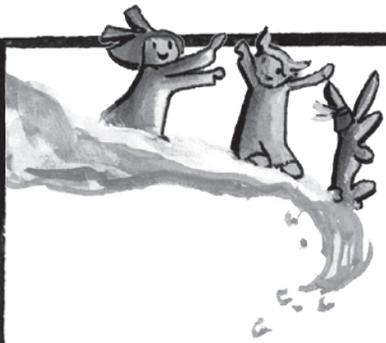

Can you find . . . three hula hoops? • A carrot? • Three sheep? • A trumpet? • A cowboy hat?
A secret service agent? • A bow tie? • A banjo? • An American flag? • Madeline?

What else do you see?

The rabbit conjured up a magic tide of cherry blossoms that sweep Madeline and Candle out into the night. They pass the Lincoln Memorial, the Capitol Building, the Jefferson Memorial, and the Washington Monument. What else do you think they saw? Draw the magical sight here.

Madeline learns all sorts of new things when she comes to Washington, D.C.
Can you find these words that are all about our nation's capital?

It's time for dessert at the White House! There's just so much to choose from . . .
can you count them all?

How many:

Pies? ____

Girls with bows in their hair? ____

Pitchers of milk? ____

Balloons? ____

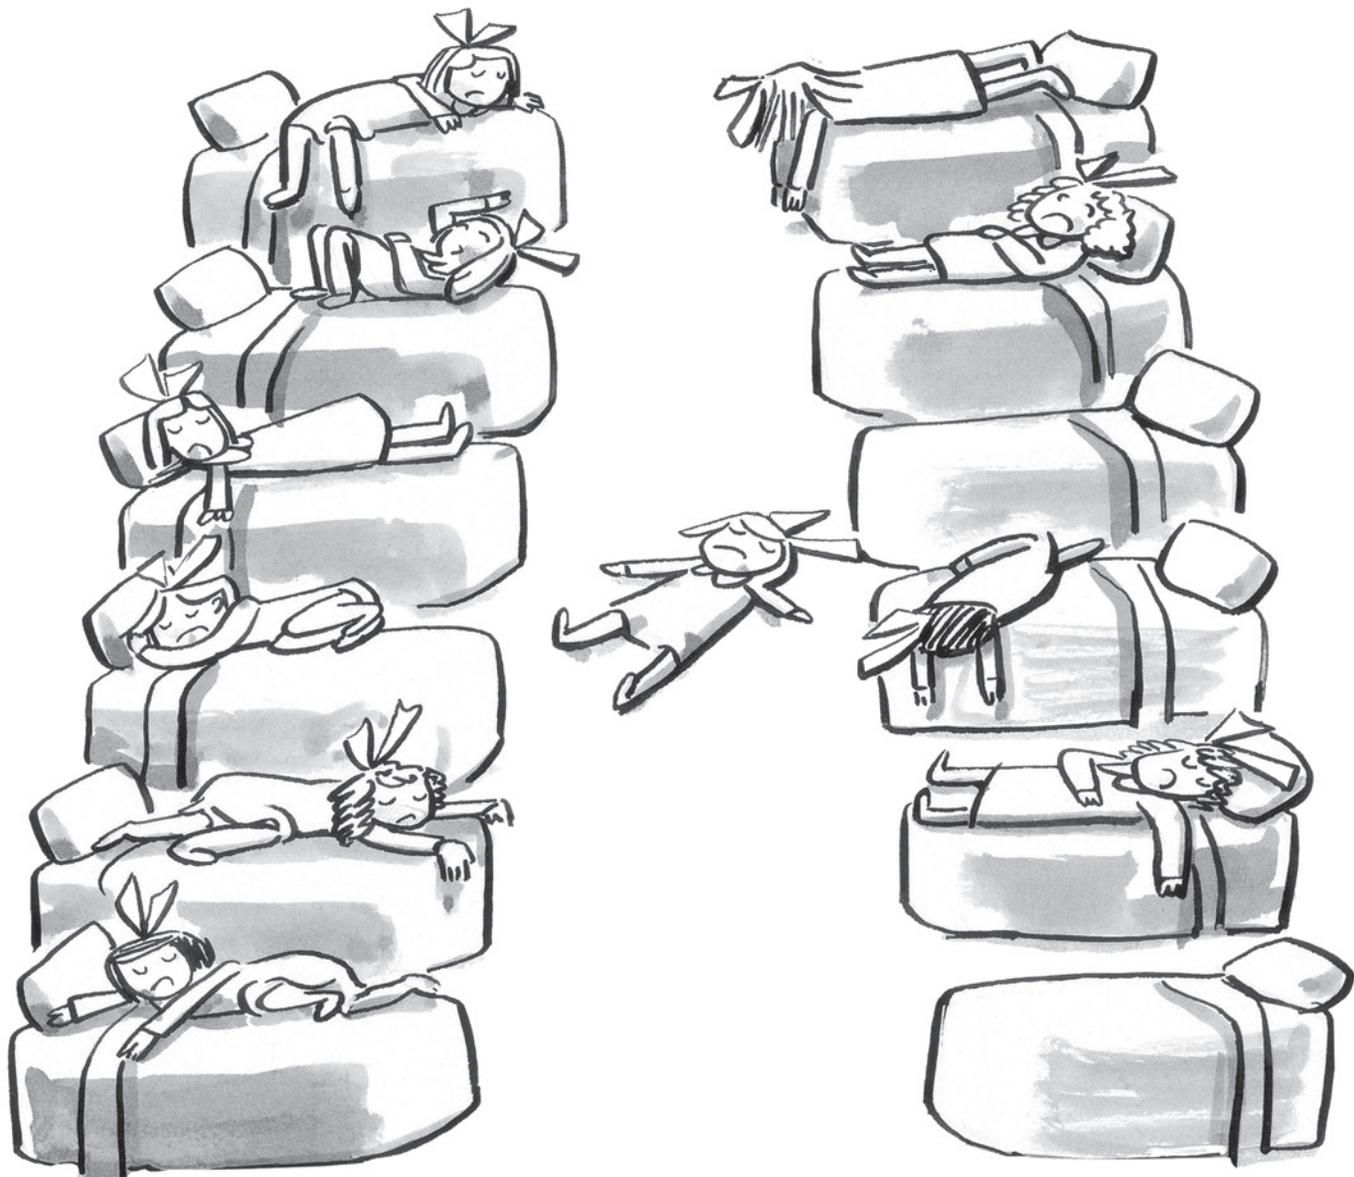

Chocolate cakes? ____

Cookies on the table? ____

Rabbits? ____

The girls have tummy aches after eating too much dessert. Cheer them up by giving them a colorful room! Use markers, crayons, and glitter to decorate the walls and floor, and give them cheerful new bedspreads.

Madeline's magician packed a surprise for her and Candle! Connect the dots to see what popped out of her suitcase.
